If I were mayor I would establish an Environmental comitee, if we don't already have one. Every time the lights are left on or the water is running at my house, I am remided of how we have limited resources and how that water and electricity could've been put to good use. I always think about how plastic jugs and cans could've been used again through recycling. I absdutley hate it when my brothers waste food. When I walk my dog, I see... 'stuff' from other dogs in other's yards. When it rains, the nasty 'stuff' washes into storm drains. It contaminates the storm water. I don't know what happens after that, but based on the books I've read, it ends up in rivers and lakes, where animals live.

A good mayor would care about cleaning up the environment and community. Organizing clean-ups would bring the community together. If Valdosta was clean, it would get a good reputation. A good reputation would bring more people here. More people means more money. 171

A clean environment means more kids getting out there! With nothing in their way, kids are ready to explore. Valdosta is home to many creatures and plants. A clean environment will also encourage kids to exercise. If I were mayor, I would see more kids walking dogs, riding bikes, and running. Maybe I'll see kids playing sports or jumping rope. Healthy kids are happy kids with bright futures. To make sure all this happens, I'll organize an environmental comitee. This comitee will organize cleanups that bring the community together. We'll raise awareness at schools. Our goal is to save the environment through clean-ups, recycling, and getting kids to unplug and get outside. In other words, our job will be to keep Valdosta beautiful.

Being in charge of this comitee would be hard work and it would probably take time and money. In the end, however, it will be worth it. I will do anything to keep this city clean and eco-friendly.

In conclusion, if I were mayor I would create an environmental comitee. Cleaning up our town will give Valdosta a good reputation. A clean area would encourage kids to play outside. This comitee will raise awareness and bring Valdosta together. A clean city is better than a dirty one; let's improve Valdosta!
